Mounting Brackets for Sealed Batteries

Sealed batteries growing in popularity. They can now be found on everything from race cars to classic cars. They have a powerful cranking ability, they are suitable for cars that only see occasional use - classics and track day cars - and they can be safely mounted in any position - even on their side, and in the passenger compartments under a seat.

To cater for anyone wishing to install a sealed battery, Optimum Balance Products have released a new range of brackets for almost all sizes of sealed battery.

The lightweight brackets are made from quality aluminium and will hold the batteries securely in either vertical or horizontal positions. Mounting flanges are supplied blank to allow holes to be drilled as appropriate to the specific application.

Prices range from £16.10 to £19.84 + VAT
